WHAT'S NEW IN SONOMA COUNTY

Meet Some of the Cutest Dogs in Wine Country at These Napa Wineries

Good wine tastes even better when you have a good dog to keep you company.

Good wine tastes even better when you have a good dog to keep you company. In wine country, furry friends are among the few things that get as much attention as the vino — there are dog-friendly restaurants, wineries and hotels, and local winery dogs come in all breeds and sizes. Napa County has its own lineup of canine stars, click through the gallery for some of our favorites.

Sheri and Patrick (left), Alpha Omega Winery: Sheri, age 13, and Patrick, age 7, were both trained to herd cattle, but when it became obvious the Border Collies were more the people-loving type, they were adopted by Alpha Omega owners Robin and Michelle Baggett. 1155 Mee Lane at Hwy 29, St. Helena, 707-963-9999, aowinery.com. Sheri (right) has a knack for perfectly positioning herself so that her favorite guests can easily rub her head. Patrick is a well-mannered ambassador, greeting guests and receiving a good amount of love and attention in return. (Courtesy Photo)
